

Kids in Niagara

A perfect winter escape

Water and more water! The waterfalls are of course the stars here! But there is no swimming in and around

Kids being kids, won't spend long contemplating the falls. They need to move and to have fun more than

The solution is more than Fallsview Indoor Waterpark which is open at 20 degrees Celsius.

A deep breath

This is a requirement, considering the bewildering array of aquatic frenzy found in this action-packed wa

Slides, 16 of them, of all shapes, in which you can compete with others in a giant water centrifuge alley,

Some fresh air?

Head outside to an outdoor pool for a water basket game or just lounge in the sun on the heated sundeck

Those who are 16 years and older can enjoy the hot tubs.

Dry... or almost

A form of aerial adventure can even be experienced with stairs and rope ladders... in a rain fortress, where you can get wet!

To rest for a moment, a beach with lounge chairs and palm trees awaits.

Have the munchies?

A light snack at Planet Hollywood Beach Club is in order.

Security wise

As in many other attraction parks, some activities are restricted in terms of age and height. Most activities have a minimum age and height requirement.

Smaller kids also have their own area with mini slides, soakers, water streams and water guns, etc.

As little or as much as you want

A one-day pass, two-day passes or even more days are available in this water paradise.

A birthday? Great idea!

For only $30 per person, a birthday will be made memorable for all guests, with an all day waterpark admission and a birthday cake.

If you add $10 per person, access to the Adventure City activities and to the Wild Safari nearby is included.

Where to stay?

It is really worth taking advantage of a hotel package. Many categories of establishments are offered with

The three hotels with direct indoor connections are the Sheraton on the Falls Hotel, the Crowne Plaza and

It is likely that parents will get back in touch with their own child-like energy.

Research and French original: Sylvie Berthiaume

Translation: Christiane Théberge

